Pablo Seoane

NOW BOOKING FOR
2009

The pianist Pablo Seoane continues working on his own particular understanding of jazz, which he started on his previous album "falou" (Audia Records, 2006), and has consolidated over the years with his intense live performances as a trio and as a quartet.

These modern jazz compositions sink their roots, forms and improvisations into the spirit of traditional jazz, without relinquishing experimentation with modern harmonies and phrasing. This is jazz which is alive, where the music aims to recapture its ancient condition as non verbal story.

Pablo Seoane masterfully combines pieces of a certain harmonic and rhythmic complexity with others which are deliberately simple, but all of them are conceived as vehicles for collective improvisation. This allows the formation to recreate atmospheres for us to submerge ourselves in, and to drift with our emotions. From humour to melancholy, from introspection to high speeds,...
